

Come join Coastal Communities Network
for our Annual General Meeting
October 13-14 2010
Tatamagouche Centre

Come learn more about Food Sovereignty, Food Security and just where do we stand in Nova Scotia.

What can concerned citizens, farmers, and fishermen do?
Can we work together to support each other and ensure
we have healthy local food in the future?

The People's Food Policy Project

The People's Food Policy Project links people from across Canada to find ways that ordinary people can reclaim decision-making power in our food system. This is the core of food sovereignty, and the base of our project to create Canada's first comprehensive federal food policy. The People's Food Policy will reflect and support the work of Canadians to create a food system based on care and respect for humans and the natural world.
